

Supreme HorseWoman Competitors

Sandi Anderson has been riding for 43 years, 12 of which she has been involved with Mustangs. She placed 16th in the June 2008 Mustang Challenge in Sacramento. She will be competing with Outback Jack, her "challenge horse."

Corinne Elser got her first Mustang when she was just 12 years old. She will be competing on Dolly, a three year old bay mare she's had since March 2008. Corinne and Dolly were champions in the 2008 Western States challenge.

Angi Keitel has been involved with Mustangs for over 7 years. She placed 5th In-Hand at the Mustang Challenge in Texas with Freedom. Angi says once she convinced Freedom she was his leader he was "willing to do anything" for her.

Jenna Nelson has been training horses for clients since she was 16 years old. She finished 9th overall in the 2008 Western States Mustang Challenge. She will be competing this weekend on Domestic Aim. You can check out Aim on Jenna's blog, www.miaspony.blogspot.com.

Robin Kimberly Orefice has worked with Mustangs for 10 years. She competed in the Western States Mustang Challenge in Sacramento. Robin will compete this weekend with Brumby, a five year old mare.

Stacey Spangler has been involved with Mustangs for over 30 years. She competed in the California Mustang Challenge and Extreme Mustang Makeover. She will be working with her Extreme Mustang horse, Reo Gato, this weekend.

Janet Titus adopted her first Mustang when she was 18. She placed 8th overall in the 2008 Western States Mustang Challenge on Chato, whom she will compete with this weekend.

Jamie Thomas has been riding for 28 years and involved with Mustangs since 2005. Jamie competed in the 2007 Extreme Mustang Makeover. In 2008, she placed 1st In-Hand at the Western States Mustang Challenge with Montego, who she will compete with in the Supreme HorseWoman Contest.

Madelyn Wagner placed 4th in the 2008 Western States Mustang Challenge. She will compete this weekend with Handy Hank, a four-year-old gelding. Madelyn has been riding for 33 years.

Gena Wasley has been riding since she was a child. "I found my niche to be working with horses who are often misunderstood or labeled 'difficult,'" says Gena. She placed 7th in the conditioning class and 9th In-Hand at the Western States Mustang Challenge in Sacramento.

Wylene Wilson began riding at age 6. In October 2008, she placed in the top four at Craig Cameron's 1st all women's Extreme Cowboy Race in Texas. She will compete this weekend with Filthy Rich, a four year old gelding.
